OF RUSH UNIVERSITY

May 1, 1993

Dear Students:

"Vital Signs" is celebrating its' second birthday! Thanks to the class of 1993 this record of college life for Rush nurses continues to be a first rate publication. It is rewarding to observe your joy, enthusiasm, and creativity with this project. Indeed, the hard work has paid off because you have a yearbook that tells you and the readers that you made a special life for yourselves at the College of Nursing at Rush University. You are recognized as a talented and involved class, and the College is better for your having been with us. You have been our "Vital Signs".

On behalf of the faculty, I congratulate you on your yearbook and wish you every success in your career in nursing.

Sincerely,

Kathleen G. Andreoli

Dear Colleagues and Fellow Alumni:

I feel very honored to be asked to contribute to your Year Book. Don't know what to say or where to begin. Training is so different today than it was over sixty years ago when I started as a "Probie". And it should be different. If we can't see a need for change how can we hope to progress. As long as you know and uphold the traditions that have made your Alma Mater so great, you'll be OK.

All I ever wanted to do was be a nurse so in 1930 when I graduated from High School I entered the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing. We resided at the Sprague Home for Nurses which then was located on the north side of Congress (across from the Jones Building) but later was relocated to make way for the Eisenhower Expressway. This was not only our dormitory but our classroom and laboratory, the place for our social gatherings and daily devotional meetings. Discipline was spelled out and willingly complied with. We all entered training voluntarily and if not satisfied could have left voluntarily. Remember that throughout your professional career by supporting the Institution for which you work and likewise is giving you your income. We were a very dedicated group of trainees and I believe this dedication is what has made our profession so great. We were always treated fairly, with respect, dignity, compassion and as professionals.

I love Nursing. In fact I probably love it more with each passing year. Believe me the Medical profession becomes more interesting and challenging as time goes by. The advances in Medicine today are really mind boggling. And to think you are having a part in it! You will get out of it only what you put into it. Do support it with yourself and your time as well as your finances.

My life has become fuller and richer as years go by and believe me I owe it not only to my family and my God but to my dear friends and colleagues in the Medical profession and Medical Center.

I hope you'll find your profession as rewarding, interesting and as much fun as I have. You are our future caregivers and good patient care is dependent upon you. We are depending so much on you. Take good care of yourselves and your profession. Don't ever let it down. A wonderful life is ahead for all of you.

My best to each one of you.

Most sincerely,

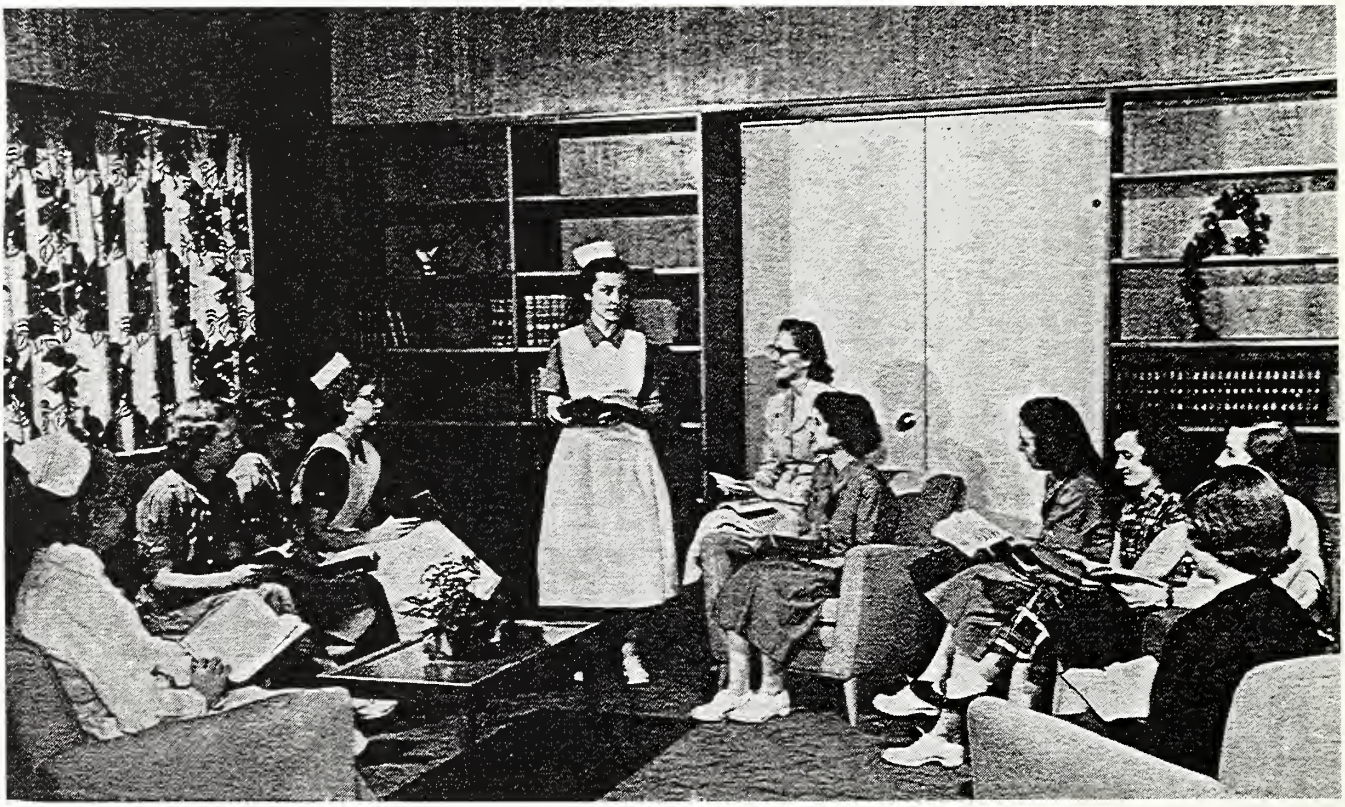
Nurses Christian Fellowship

Then....



To strengthen the faith and enrich the lives of the Student Nurses at Prebysterian, our Nurses Christian Fellowship, which is an international organization, offers an active program of worship, service and Christian fellowship. Many lively discussions and frequent Bible studies help to deepen our understanding of the Word of God. Occasionally missionary speakers present to us the spiritual needs of those in other lands. A highlight of this past year was a talk by Chaplain Lillie, from Cook County Hospital, who inspired each of us with his enthusiasm in ministering to the sick in that institution. Another valuable experience of the year was a combined Nurses Christian Fellowship - Intervarsity Christian Fellowship weekend conference at Camp Duncan in April, which was attended by a number of our students.

Nurses Christian Fellowship

Now!

By God's power and as a committed body, we will strive to grow in love for God, each other, and Rush University by following Christ's example and living as meaning makers in the profession of nursing.

Recipe for Making a Good Nurse

"Mix together equal parts of pluck, good health, and well-balanced sympathy stiffen with energy and soften with the milk of human kindness. Use a first-class training school as a mixer. Add the sweetness of a smile, a little ginger and generous amounts of tact, humor and unselfishness, with plenty of patience. Pour into the mold of womanhood, time with enthusiasm, finish with a cap, and garnish with ambition.

"The sauce of experience is always an improvement to this recipe, which, if followed closely, should be very successful and exceedingly popular."

The History of the School for Nurses

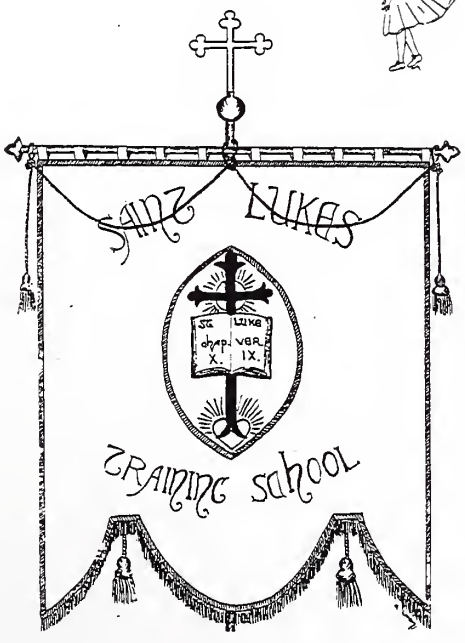
THE following is an extract from the Presbyterian Hospital Bulletin of January, 1920, in which a very masterful History of the Presbyterian Hospital and the Nurses' School has been written up by Mrs. David W. Graham:

"Mrs. Hamill had more than one great interest in her hospital work. The establishment of a Nurses' School had long been desired, but the added financial burden had caused delay. The $40,000.00 necessary for the provision of a suitable home for the nurses was secured, and two houses at the northwest corner of Ashland Avenue and Congress Street were bought. To start this important work the hospital was most fortunate in securing the services of Miss M. Helena McMillan as Principal. Miss McMillan, a graduate of the Illinois Training School for Nurses, brought with her seven years of experience in hospitals at Kingston, Ontario, and Lakeside Hospital, Cleveland, and after seventeen years with us, we are abundantly able to confirm the judgment of the Board of Managers in their choice.

"Mrs. Hamill early concerned herself with the development of this school, establishing a committee in the Ladies' Aid, of which she was the chairman, with Mrs. Joseph Matteson as an enthusiastic assistant. Together they arranged the graduating school pin. The new building, the Sprague Home for Nurses, so long needed, was not erected until 1913, and then, through the generosity of the friends of Mr. O. S. A. Sprague, who wished to do him honor, their gift of $100,000.00 was the nucleus which made the building possible. Later the remaining $250,000.00 was contributed by the estate of Mr. Albert A. Sprague, the mortgage of $110,000.00 being lifted by the bequest of Mrs. A. A. Sprague, who died in 1915. Thus stands this beautiful and satisfactory building, a memorial to the two brothers, as the tablets at the entrance tell us. Then, as we enter, on either side of the elevator are seen the tablets to the memory of the two women who gave so much of themselves for others, Mrs. Hamill and Mrs. Matteson, who died in 1908.

"Neither of the two women who first showed such interest in the nurses lived to see the new home, but their needs inspired others to like service. The Training School Committee continues with Miss Helen V. Drake as chairman. Her supervision over the needs of the student body makes possible the addition of many a comfort and luxury not otherwise obtainable. To Mrs. Holmes Forsyth is delegated the care of the missionary students and assignment of scholarships; to Mrs. Carl Pfaustiehl, the Y. W. C. A. League, while the other members of the committee, Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. William Derby and Mrs. Sidney Starbuck, give valuable aid.

"A principal with national renown, its comfortable home, its high standard, its eight-hour schedule maintained from the first, its homey atmosphere under the watchful eye of Miss Russell, and Miss Aylward, who provides the fuel for strenuous activity; its freedom of action within proper limits, the standing of its graduates, our school has acquired a national reputation. Yet more remains to be done. Other scholarships should be founded for post-graduate work, fitting for special forms of public health service, and, above all, an endowment fund should be started that not only the goal already reached shall be maintained, but that provision be made to meet future demands as they are presented."



So we have begun and so we shall continue, in an upward way, following the footsteps of those who have gone before us. We shall keep ever alive our guiding vision of life so precious and offer unfaltering service to mankind.

'Good nursing care — our goal'

The majority of our clinical experience was spent in the medical-surgical wards. It was here that we learned basic nursing care principles, and practiced essential procedures. Whether giving a back rub or caring for the most complex surgical patient, our days were always full.

In reviewing this division of our experience we recall memorable incidents and find that we now meet our responsibilities with more self-reliance, confidence, and gratification.

A strange world becomes familiar

We learned its puzzling new ways gradually.

Simple things like baths and temperatures took a great deal of concentration. Little by little our speech became sprinkled with medical terminology.

But it was the patients whom we came to know and like, that finally gave this strange hospital world meaning and reality.

I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to elevate the standard of my profession and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty will I endeavor to aid the physician in his work and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

A Nurse's Prayer

O my God, teach me to receive the sick in Thy Name. Give to my efforts success for the glory of Thy holy Name.

It is Thy work: without Thee, I cannot succeed.

Grant that the sick Thou hast placed in my care may be abundantly blessed, and not one of them be lost because of any neglect on my part.

Help me to overcome every temporal weakness, and strengthen in me whatever may enable me to bring joy to the lives of those I serve.

Give me grace, for the sake of Thy sick ones and of those lives that will be influenced by them.

Amen.
